[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, June 13, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The week past has been of more than common interest, to a great many at least, as the Circuit Court of this county commenced its session on last Monday. The docket is a large one. On Monday evening a

GRAND TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION

Was had by the Democrats. It marched through our principal streets, led by the Capital Brass Band. There were several transparencies borne in the ranks with amusing caricatures and remarks painted thereon. At the head of the procession was carried a large painting of Gov. Grover, which I am told, was next morning found in a saloon, but whether His Excellency's shadow had been pawned for a drink or not, was a conundrum that my informant could not answer. It was a good joke, any how, for it is known that the Governor never visits saloons. After marching around, the procession halted at the Opera House, and the meeting was called to order by Colonel T. H. Cann, Chief Marshal of the occasion, who introduced the Governor who proceeded to congratulate the party on the victory achieved. He also renewed the promises that he had made before the election, and after a few more remarks gave way to the "Lion of Linn," Mr. Geo R. Helm, who made a short speech, and was followed by the "Vesuvius of Polk," Mr. Hayden, who made one of his characteristic speeches; but he thought it was spoiled, as there were quite a number of ladies in the hall, which restrained him, much to his chagrin. After the speeches the procession reformed and escorted the Governor to his residence, where they were treated to champagne. This closed the celebration. Last evening

A TEMPERANCE MEETING

Was held at the Baptist Church in this city, and was well attended, as it was generally known that some of the ladies from Portland, who had been active Crusaders, would be present. Several addresses were made and quite a sum of money was raised to aid the temperance cause. I am not informed whether praying bands will be organized in this city or not. A mass meeting will be held to-morrow night (Sunday) in the interest of this move.

Last evening a large audience collected at the Opera House to listen to the readings prepared by the two of this city. This reading was given for the benefit of the Natural History Society and Reading Room Association, an institution worthy of the benefit. The different performers acquitted themselves with great credit, although several of them had never appeared on the stage before. They were cheered on by an appreciative audience. The net proceeds were $125 25, clearing $102 25, which is a good showing.

To-day two election bets were paid and created considerable fun at the same time. A couple of gentlemen agreed that they would pick their candidates for Governor, and the defeated better should go around town grinding a hand organ, and the other should accompany him, taking up a collection for the

ORPHAN'S HOME,

A benevolent institution in this city. At the appointed hour they started out, and met with remarkable success, collecting $101 25 in cash, one pair of $2 50 shoes, and one dozen tin cups, all of which was duly handed over to the agent of the institution, and the two gentlemen will undoubtedly receive the warm thanks of the lady managers of that truly benevolent institution. The second source of fun was the payment of a debt in the following manner. The agreement made was, that the loser should wheel the winner down the most public street for two blocks and return. It was faithfully performed amid a great amount of boisterous hilarity. The hoodlum element was out in force, and they intensely enjoyed the ridiculousness of the occasion.

On next Tuesday a large number of people will go from this city to take part in the Pioneer celebration, to be held at Aurora. Among the number most probably will be your correspondent, who came to this country "the plains across" in '47.

COOS BAY ITEMS.

Our Empire City correspondent sends the following, under date of June 8th:

Circuit Court is in session.

The Wallace Minstrel Troupe are to arrive this week from the interior.

We have a tri-weekly stage line to Roseburg now—stages leaving Coos City.

Pierce, who was found guilty on the charge of rape, was taken to Salem last week.

Amos Rogers, formerly of Roseburg, has assumed the position of host at the Central Hotel, Marshfield.

Business is said to be lively on Coquille river since Hinsdale's mill at Gardner City commenced running.

The schooner Jennie Thelin, wrecked some months ago, has been repaired and is loaded with lumber for San Francisco.

The schooners Aurora and Alaska arrived since the 1st inst. Sailed corresponding time—schooners Elnorah and Norway, and steamer Empire.

Owing to the fact that the steamer Eastport was disabled recently at Crescent City, we have only one steamer on the line—running semi-monthly.

It is generally conceded that Coos county has gone Republican with the exception of W. K. Jackson for County Clerk. The State ticket will have an average of about 120 majority.

A Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry was organized at Coquille City on the 4th inst., by R. M. Gurney. The following are the officers elected: Wm. Morrass, Master, A. Simmons, Overseer; S. H. Emmerson, Lecturer, T. Yowell, Steward; J. Lewis, Assistant Steward, M. W. Miller, Chaplain, Jas Colyer, Treasurer, James Aiken, Secretary; T. Cordwell, Gate Keeper, Mrs. M. S. Simmons, Ceres, Mrs. Mattie Colyer, Pomona; Mrs. J. B. Lewis, Flora, Miss Belle Willard, Lady Steward.

INDEPENDENCE ITEMS.

Our resident correspondent at Independence, Polk county, sends us the following, under date of the 12th inst.

Nearly all the Granges of this and some of the adjoining counties have signified their willingness to attend the great celebration to be held at Dixie, in this county, on the 4th of July.

The camp meeting at Dixie broke up on account of the heavy rains. One lady joined the church.

The farmers are in high spirits. The prospect for good crops was never as good as at present. There will be at least three times as much wheat raised in this county as ever before.

A great deal of improvement and new building is going on all over the county. The largest warehouse in the county will be built at Eola by Messrs. Wm. Jones, S. Beckett and J. J. Thompson. Although there are two saw-mills in this town they cannot supply the demand for lumber.

Shingles cannot be had at any price; parties from here have to go to Salem for them.

Sheep shearing has been put back considerably by the wet weather.

I hear it rumored that one of the defeated candidates on the Democratic ticket is going to contest on account of a non-resident of this county acting as judge in one of the precincts.

OREGON.

The Grand Jury reports the new Court House at Salem leaky.

Albany will have a rousing celebration on the Fourth of July.

Sheridan is approaching the proportions of a prosperous village rapidly.

A Polk county man intends to can an acre of tomatoes. If he can get cans he can.

Three Chinamen are in jail at Baker City, one for robbing a money-drawer, and two for robbing a flume.

We learn that the miners over at Clark Creek and Eldorado, Baker county, are all busy at work, and making it pay.

The tie between the candidates for County Judge in Yamhill county was decided in favor of Mr. Hurley, Republican.

Two Celestials got into a fight at Sparta week before last, and one put a mammoth pistol-ball through the other's body, causing instant death.

Information is wanted of J. N. Hague, who was at Clarksville, or Snake river, about three years ago. Address S. R. Golden, Roseburg, Oregon.

The third and fourth brick kilns of the season are being built at the Penitentiary. The former has about 160,000 brick in it, and the latter about 20,000.

A man named Mitchell fell dead on the street at Sparta, Baker county, on the 2d inst. It is supposed that heart disease caused his death. Deceased was a miner.

The Annual Baptist Association for Eastern Oregon was in session at Wingville during week before last. A great many visitors from abroad were in attendance.

Good report comes from the Grange at North Yamhill. There are about 100 members, and on next Saturday the first degree will be conferred upon a class of seventeen.

The little schooner built by Geo. B Hunsaker, at Peck's mill, mouth of the Alsea, was launched on the 9th ult., and christened the Alice. She sailed for San Francisco about the 10th of June.

The late rains have been immensely beneficial to spring grain. Farmers express uneasiness as to fall grain, fearing that it will "lodge" badly, being of such heavy growth that it cannot stand much wind.

Merchants in the Umpqua valley are arranging to receive their goods this summer by way of Coos Bay and the Coos Bay Wagon Road. They say they cannot think of freighting by railroad, on account of unreasonable high freight tariff.

The Universalists of Oregon met in convention on the 11th, at Central School House, nine miles north of Harrisburg, and were to continue over to the 14th. Rev. Augusta Chapin, of Boston, Mass, was expected to be in attendance.

A bet between two well known citizens of Salem was paid by the loser playing a hand organ through the streets, and the winner following taken up a collection for the benefit of the Orphans' Home. A large crowd gathered and over $100 was collected.

The Albany Democrat says: Wool is coming in now pretty lively, and our merchants are doing some responsible button-holing in consequence. The ruling price at present is 27 cents, with a probability of a rise in a few days.

Daniel Drake, whom we mentioned as having been hurt by young Cushman on the night of election day in Corvallis, is now very low from the effects of his wound. Erysipelas has attacked the parts hurt, and the patient is now in a precarious condition.

Lewis Stimson, of Linn county, has succeeded in purchasing 1,256 head of sheep, which he will take over the mountains in about three weeks. One thousand of the band are for A. Hannan, of Walla Walla, and the remainder Mr. Stimson will keep for himself.

Several persons at Grand Ronde Reservation were seriously, but none of them fatally, poisoned recently. We could not get the particulars, further than that poison of some kind accidentally was mixed with victuals and eaten, and that some people were made very sick thereby.

The Corvallis Gazette says two gentlemen from abroad and of reputed wealth came into town by stage last Saturday, procured a team of King and went to the Bay returned on Monday and took a private conveyance to Albany. Sol says all their conversation was upon a railroad to the Bay.

This is closing week at the Albany Collegiate Institute. Hon. R. P. Boise will deliver the annual address before the literary societies on Wednesday evening, June 17th, at eight o'clock. "Commencement exercises on Thursday afternoon, June 18th, at two o'clock P. M. Examination commences Tuesday morning.

Mr. J. C. Bewley, of Tillamook informs the Statesman that the full returns of that county give Tolman 99 and Grover 54. The Republican county ticket was all elected except Clerk and Treasurer. So those two officers, Fernside and Holden, Democrats were elected. Dean, Republican, for Joint Representative, received 20 majority.

As the train was going south from this place last Saturday evening, between Canemah and Oregon City, it ran over a fine cow belonging to a lady living in the former town. The engine ran over the cow, cut her leg off, mangled her badly and threw her down a bluff about 20 feet. The Indians camped at the falls gathered up the carcass and had a grand feast.

W. A. Cates and Joseph Wright arrived at Union on Thursday of last week from the logging region on the Grand Ronde river, after a walk of about 140 miles in four days. The company is out of provisions, and are living on bread straight. The boys started back on Friday with two pack animals with provisions. They have the logs within thirty miles of the boom, at the mouth of the Grand Ronde Canyon, at Oro Dell.

The Eighth Annual Reunion of the Alumni Association of the Willamette University will be held in the chapel of the University, Wednesday evening, June 24th, at 8 o'clock. The literary exercises of the evening will be as follows: Oration by L. M. Jones, of the class of 1871; Poem by M. O. Lownsdale, of the class of 1870; Essay by Miss Clara A. Watt, of the class of 1864; Annals by Geo. E. Strong, of the class of 1868. The business meeting of the Association is to be held Wednesday, at 2 o'clock P. M., in the University building.

A gentleman of this city who has been rusticating in Yamhill for about a week, dieting himself on strawberries till his hair has turned red, informs us that the crops up there are astonishingly large and thrifty. The fall sown wheat is tall as a man of medium hight and is headed out beautifully. The farmers are busy preparing for the harvest, and every boat that goes up the Yamhill river, lands one or more threshers on its banks.

The following from the annual report of the G. W. C. T. shows the strength of the Good Templars in Oregon: Number of Lodges at last session of the Grand Lodge, 85; organized during the year, 20. Total 105. Ceased working during the year, 28, present number, 75. Initiated, 1,717; admitted by card, 71; reinstated 87. Total, 1,904. Cards granted, 159; resigned, 354; suspended, 815; expelled, 8; deaths, 5. Total membership, April 30th, 3,000. The financial condition of the Grand Lodge is good.

The last will of M. M. McDonald, of Yamhill county, was presented for probate to the County Court last week. All of the property of deceased, amounting to about $9,000, is given to his wife. The person who drew up the will neglected to name or provide for any of the children of the deceased in the will. After due consideration it was held by the Probate Judge that the will was null and void, because the children of the deceased are not named in it. Thus it will be seen the importance of having such papers drawn up by a competent person.

Mr. R. F. Jackson, of Wisconsin, who visited this State last Spring examining the prospect of introducing blooded sheep, is on his way to Oregon with three car loads of pure blood Spanish merino sheep. Mr. Jackson purchased his sheep from Daniel Kelly, of Vermont, who is one of the oldest thoroughbred breeders of sheep in the United States. Mr. Kelly's flock dates back to 1828, and he has taken more premiums at different fairs than any man in the United States. Mr. Jackson comes by way of San Francisco, and brings with him 100 picked ewes and 274 bucks, all warranted pure bloods.

The new bridge across the Yamhill at McMinnville is finished. It is 400 feet long and 16 feet wide; is built upon spiling which is driven into the earth from 10 to 15 feet, and the superstructure is securely bolted to the spiling, being connected with heavy iron to every spile driven. Thus it appears almost impossible for water to carry the bridge away, even should it be submerged, as the spile work is set so firmly, and to which the upper portion is fixed equally as firm. The spiles are driven in bents sixteen feet apart. There are two bents containing seven spiles each, four of six spiles each, and fourteen bents of four spiles each, making in all ninety-four spiles. It seems to us that as much heavy timber as this, planted as firmly as this is, will certainly stand all the test it will ever receive. There is a draw of forty feet provided over the channel of the river. This draw is so constructed that a boy can operate it, while at the same time it is very substantial and safe.

THE TERRITORIES.

Messrs Dale, Farnsworth, Conard, Cradlebaugh, Nort, Kress and others, from Vancouver, start for the Canyon Creek mines this week, to be gone about three months. The last rock taken out of these mines assayed $457 per ton.

On Monday evening, 8th inst., at the residence of her brother in-law, Mr. Geo. F. Orchard, Mrs. Frances D. Coulson, aged nineteen years, died of congestion. She had been ill a day or two only, and her decease was quite unexpected.

Homestead declarations must in all cases be filed by the soldier in person, or his duly authorized agent, and they should be rejected when received by mail, or in any other manner that that above stated. Local officers will not be allowed to enter land under the timber culture act of March 3, 1873.

A Tacoma Indian, who was sick of life, from the marital infidelities of his squaw, committed suicide on Tuesday of last week. He first tried to kill his wife, and after he thought he had attained success in that effort, hung himself with his belt to the limb of a tree. The woman "came to," and reported the proceedings to the authorities.

The Clarke county Temperance Alliance met on the 6th of June, and after the usual order of business, a motion was adopted that a Committee of five be appointed to make arrangements for the celebration of the Fourth of July, and that said Committee be prepared to report at a called meeting of the Alliance on Saturday, the 27th of June, at 1 o'clock, in the Good Templar's Hall. On motion, the President appointed on said Committee Messrs S. W. Brown, John Proebstel, G. H. Steward, W. H. Goddard and S. R. Whipple. A motion was adopted that other Societies and parties be invited to appoint Committees to confer with the Committee of the Alliance and that they be requested to meet for that purpose two weeks from to-day, the 20th of June, at 1 o'clock, in the Templar's Hall of Vancouver.

Mr. Shelton, Deputy Grand Master of Granges in Idaho Territory, has organized seven Granges in that Territory located as follows: Boise Grange, Boise City, L. F. Cartee, Master, George D. Luckey, Secretary; 19 members. All these are charter members, and will probably be able to add twice this number to their lodges in a short time.

An Olympia Chinaman was bantered, the other day, to sell his queue for $20. The money was shown to John, and put up, and the temptation to secure it proved too much, for the pious regard he had hitherto felt for his hair. He submitted himself to the barber, and made off with the coveted gold before those who furnished it realized what they had paid for so valueless an article. The joke was against them, and, to turn away the laugh, they resolved to turn the tail to the pecuniary advantage of the local railroad. A crier and bell ringer promenaded the streets, announcing the sale of the Chinaman's tail at a certain place and hour. An excitement, a crowd, and an auctioneer, were soon obtained, and, after a number of "goings," the tail went to a fifty-dollar bidder. It was put up a second time, and sold for fifteen dollars, realizing sixty-five dollars for the benefit of railroad construction. Besides that amount, the crier, while ringing the bell, collected three dollars and a bit for the same object.

MONDAY MORNING JUNE 15 1874

THE PARIS RIOT

France is in convulsion again. That is, Paris is in convulsions, and Paris is France at least so far as political matters are concerned. A personal assault upon Leon Gambetta by an ex-officer of Zouaves who is desirous of getting notoriety through con[illegible] bravado signifies nothing in itself. It would not signify very much if the turbulent radical were put out of sight to-[illegible] except in that it would be the removal of a man who has proved himself a powerful agitator of the people. It might [illegible] probably it would be well for the French if the ideas that Gambetta and his [illegible] promulgate were in the main adopted as the foundation of their government, but all their agitation only produces disorder without bringing the country any nearer to an acceptance of radical views. To all appearances the firm establishment of republican government is farther off than it was two years ago.

The present commotion differs from those that preceded it. They were in the interest of the radicals, but this is evidently a monarchist riot, or was so at its inception, though it appears both parties are taking a hand in it now. Monarchist or democrat, however, it is essentially French. Matters have not gone just as a portion of the people would have had them go and their disapprobation is testified by a tumultuous uprising and the commission of acts of violence. Where will it end? Is France to follow in the way that Spain and Mexico and all the Central and South American Republics—not to mention Louisiana and Arkansas—have trod? It is to be hoped not. In some respects the French have shown themselves the greatest people of modern times. They have been the admiration of historians and philosophers. But they make a failure whenever they attempt to establish popular government for themselves. This is not the first nor the second trial of the experiment and there is certainly cause to fear it will end as the others have ended.

A REMARKABLE COINCIDENCE

On the same evening with the Republican "mass meeting" to nominate candidates for the Common Council the Crusaders held their Convention, and it is a remarkable coincidence that these two Conventions so widely different in general character and objects selected exactly the same persons for candidates in each ward. Probably such an astonishing agreement between deliberative bodies, whose managers had not conferred with each other nor had any understanding in the premises, never occurred before and will never occur again. Some persons have suggested that there must have existed an understanding among the moving spirits of these two parties, and that the nominations were a preconcerted thing, but that is only the notion of ingenuous and cynical persons who are willing to be misled by groundless suspicions, having no confidence in human nature—of that sort. To a person who has carefully watched the manoeuvres of these two political organizations of late the case is as clear as mud. That they should both have hit upon exactly the same men for every ward of the city, without previous consultation, would of course excite remark, but it was purely a coincidence and not a job—purely so of course.

A NEW REPUBLICAN AND TEMPERANCE NOMINEE

Mr John R Foster declines the nomination of the Republicans for Councilman for the First Ward, and the party managers have nominated Mr Henry Saxer in his place. We have not been notified of the indorsement of Mr Saxer's nomination, by the Crusade party, but, judging by the wonderful coincidence between their action and that of the Republicans on Friday night, and from some other circumstances of public notoriety, it is safe to assume that Mr Saxer will receive the united support of the Temperance party—provided always that the manipulators who are trying to run the Temperance movement for their own selfish purposes can control the honest temperance people.

MORE CARELESSNESS

Last evening we were shown a letter from C T Ingram of Tangent to a business man of this city in which the writer said he had just received on the 13th instant a letter sent him on the 6th by the Portland gentleman. This delayed letter related to important business and demanded immediate attention and the result of the delay is the loss to Mr Ingram of an advantageous transaction in his line. He says also in his letter that the OREGONIAN of the 6th had not reached Tangent at the time he wrote. Such carelessness on the part of those who have charge of the mails is wholly inexcusable.

An [illegible] for Councilmen of this city can never be an important [illegible]. Citizens who have taxes to pay cannot but be interested in the question who is entrusted with the finances of the city. It is the duty of every one to go to the polls and vote. They who fail to appear at the voting place should not complain if persons are elected whom they would not have [illegible] for the Council [illegible] of the city are squandered by persons so [illegible] the fault is partly chargeable to [illegible] who stay away from the polls. It [illegible] no [illegible] [illegible] that [illegible]

[illegible] Hill [illegible] Board of [illegible] Commissioners [illegible] to the Common Council [illegible] with [illegible] his [illegible]

TO THE VOTERS OF THE THIRD WARD

[illegible] Councilman [illegible] the People's Nomination Committee [illegible] JAH COLBERT [illegible]

ENTERED INTO HIS REST

When a distinguished citizen of Massachusetts who is also a financier of eminent reputation, was lately asked his opinion of Mr Richardson he summed up the merits and demerits of the ex-Secretary in four words: "Boutwell minus common sense." The judgment is terribly severe because if the quantity common sense be subtracted from Mr Boutwell what is left. It is almost a case of nothing from nothing, you can [illegible]. As a director of the national finances Mr Boutwell was certainly a grievous failure. Mr Richardson was worse—he was a blunder. Mr Boutwell has been a lucky Micawber. His good fortune did not desert him when Senator Wilson's successor was to be elected [illegible] he left the Treasury just in time to escape the Sanborn scandals. The country has no reason to believe that he would not have done precisely what Mr Richardson did.

It would be difficult to tell just when the country lost confidence in Mr Richardson. As for ourself the OREGONIAN has been the recipient of constantly recurring favors at his hands in the shape of statements of the public debt and similar mysteries of arithmetic. And the OREGONIAN has never failed to give Mr Richardson credit for those alluring statements which always come just before important elections. Mr Richardson was not an innovator. He kept up that good old custom and on the slimmest basis of facts ever vouchsafed to any Secretary of the Treasury. But we apprehend that the country first began to look with distrust on Mr Richardson when it found him, at the beginning of the present Congress, with pantaloons improperly adjusted. The great commercial sections of the Union had just passed through a financial crisis of the gravest character. The sufferers and those who while they were not sufferers yet feared a recurrence and an extension of the disaster looked to Congress for aid. As Secretary of the Treasury Mr Richardson had the patient in hand. He was expected to furnish a prescription in his report and Congress was expected to administer it. The first of December came and Mr Richardson's report was submitted to Congress. It was a remarkable document, remarkable for what it did not contain. It then became apparent that howsoever faithfully the Secretary might follow the admirable precedents set by his predecessors in the matter of statements of the public debt on the eve of important elections, however smoothly he might move in the humdrum routine of his office, when brought to face a grave public exigency and devise means of relief he had no opinion. Men shouted crazily for more paper money and Mr Richardson had no opinion. Other men clamored for some strong pledge, some sure guaranty of speedy resumption, and for them he had no opinion. At all events he tried the role of the Silent Man of Destiny. The garments didn't fit him and he made himself simply ridiculous.

So after months of patient study of the financial question Mr Richardson was weighed and at the critical moment found wanting. Then an enterprising journal got on the scent of the Sanborn contracts, and very soon it was discovered that the Secretary of the Treasury was compromised in the nastiest of the many nasty jobs with which the present administration has been, in one way or another, connected. Up to this time there had been a very general feeling of pity for the incompetent man. The appearance of Banfield and Sanborn and Sawyer raised a suspicion in the public mind. He was never accused of being another Alexander Hamilton, but it cannot be denied that he smote the rock of the national resources and some have even gone so far as to hint that he and Mr Sanborn took turns in holding the pail when it gushed forth taxes. We shall speak of this suspicion in another place. Mr Richardson signed these contracts which gave to one John D Sanborn fifty per cent of an immense amount of taxes which he (Sanborn) had no hand in collecting and which should have been collected by the regular officials who are paid liberally [illegible] for the performance of such duties. And when he was asked by an investigating committee to explain how this came about he answered with provoking nonchalance: "I signed them in the regular routine of office work."

We have said that when he was called upon Mr Richardson had no plan for resuming specie payments. He had a plan once. From the depths of his inner consciousness or some other equally unreliable source he evolved a scheme looking to the resumption of $82,000,000 of greenbacks in sums of five dollars and less in silver coin. We suppose the old gentleman regarded this lilliputian scheme with infinite complacency. Certainly he ought to have done so since everybody else laughed.

And then when the D[illegible] Investigating Committee found it necessary to subpœna certain Treasury clerks to give testimony on sundry points in their inquiry this mild mannered old gentleman protested against anybody's taking his clerks out from under his vigilant eye and dignifiedly informed the Committee that if they would first come to him for information possessed by his Department he would be much obliged.

So the country began to look with growing uneasiness on the old gentleman in the Treasury. The papers began to [illegible]—some of them growled—and a popular [illegible] jobs and peculation demanded his removal. Then Mr Richardson smiled blandly and said he would not go so long as the newspapers attacked him. And the President patted him on the back. [illegible] The tone of criticism grew [illegible] the Sanborn Committee [illegible] a resolution censuring Richardson and his subordinates Sawyer [illegible]. Then Mr Richardson got homesick [illegible] the probate business in Massachusetts. At eleven [illegible] his resignation went up [illegible] and was accepted. [illegible] old gentleman [illegible] his name was written [illegible] discharged by the [illegible] people to [illegible] that the Committee [illegible]. Nor do we think Mr Richardson is a [illegible]

[illegible] people heard twenty four hours afterward [illegible] Court of Claims [illegible]

[illegible] get out of this. The President says "Well done good and faithful servant! Enter into thy rest!" The people are beginning to say to the President "Enough of this [illegible]." It may not be [illegible] Perhaps after all Richardson has only entered General Grant's Hospital for Incurables.

THE PARIS RIOT

France [illegible] a convulsion again That is, Paris is in convulsions and Paris [illegible] France at least so far as political matters are concerned A personal assault upon Leon Gambetta by an ex-officer of Zouaves who is desirous of getting notoriety through come bravado signifies nothing in itself It would not signify very much if the troublesome radical were put out of sight to [illegible] except in that it would be the removal of a man who has proved himself a powerful agitator of the people It might be probably it would be well for the French if the ideas that Gambetta and his [illegible] promulgate were in the main adopted as the foundation of their government but all their agitation only produces disorder without bringing the country any nearer to an acceptance of radical views To all appearances the firm establishment of republican government is farther off than it was two years ago

The present commotion differs from those that preceded it They were in the interest of the radicals, but this is evidently a monarchist riot, or was so at its incipiency though it appears both parties are taking a hand in it now Monarchist or democrat however it is essentially French Matters have not gone just as a portion of the people would have had them go and their disapprobation is testified by a tumultuous uprising and the commission of acts of violence Where will it end? Is France to follow in the way that Spain and Mexico and all the Central and South American Republics—not to mention Louisiana and Arkansas—have trod? It is to be hoped not In some respects the French have shown themselves the greatest people of modern times They have been the admiration of historians and philosophers But they make a failure whenever they attempt to establish popular government for themselves This is not the first nor the second trial of the experiment, and there is certainly cause to fear it will end as the others have ended

On the same evening with the Republican "mass meeting" to nominate candidates for the Common Council the Crusaders held their Convention, and it is a remarkable coincidence that these two Conventions, so widely different in general character and objects selected exactly the same persons for candidates in each ward Probably such an astonishing agreement between deliberative bodies, whose managers had not conferred with each other nor had any understanding in the premises never occurred before and will never occur again Some persons have suggested that there must have existed an understanding among the moving spirits of these two parties and that the nominations were a preconcerted thing but that is only the notion of ingenuous and cynical persons who are willing to be misled by groundless suspicions having no confidence in human nature—of that sort To a person who has carefully watched the manœuvres of these two political organizations of late the case is as clear as mud That they should both have hit upon exactly the same men for every ward of the city, without previous consultation, would of course, excite remark but it was purely a coincidence and not a job—purely so of course.

A NEW REPUBLICAN AND TEMPERANCE NOMINEE

Mr John R Foster declines the nomination of the Republicans for Councilman for the First Ward and the party managers have nominated Mr Henry Saxer in his place We have not been notified of the indorsement of Mr Saxer's nomination by the Crusade party but judging by the wonderful coincidence between their action and that of the Republicans on Friday night and from some other circumstances of public notoriety it is safe to assume that Mr Saxer will receive the united support of the Temperance party—provided always that the manipulators who are trying to run the Temperance movement for their own selfish purposes can control the honest temperance people

MORE CARELESSNESS

Last evening we were shown a letter from C T Ingram of Tangent to a business man of this city in which the writer said he had just received on the 13th instant, a letter sent him on the 6th by the Portland gentleman This delayed letter related to important business and demanded immediate attention, and the result of the delay is the loss to Mr Ingram of an advantageous transaction in his line He says also in his letter that the OREGONIAN of the 6th had not reached Tangent at the time he wrote Such carelessness on the part of those who have charge of the mails is wholly inexcusable

An [illegible] for Councilmen of this city can never be unimportant Citizens who have taxes to pay cannot but be interested in the question who is intrusted with the finances of the city It is the duty of every one to go to the polls and vote They who fail to appear at the voting place should not complain if persons are elected whom they would not [illegible] for their Councilmen And if the fund of the city are squandered by persons so elected the fault is partly chargeable to those who stay away from the polls [illegible] difference which side [illegible] to vote [illegible] once [illegible] than [illegible]

A P Hall [illegible] Board of Police Commissioners [illegible] letter to the Common Council [illegible] the [illegible] Along with a good [illegible] his imputation [illegible]

"Having [illegible] to be a candidate for Councilman [illegible] your Ward [illegible] the People's Nominating Committee [illegible] say that [illegible] and [illegible] and wish [illegible] interest of [illegible] sympathy with the Independent [illegible]

ENTERED INTO HIS REST

When a distinguished citizen of Massachusetts who is also a financier of eminent reputation was lately asked his opinion of Mr Richardson he summed up the merits and demerits of the ex-Secretary in four words Boutwell minus common sense The judgment is terribly severe because if the quantity of common sense be subtracted from Mr Boutwell what is left It is almost a case of nothing from nothing, you can [illegible] As a director of the national finances Mr Boutwell was certainly a grievous failure Mr Richardson was worse he was a blunder Mr Boutwell had been a lucky Micawber His good fortune did not desert him when Senator Wilson's successor was to be elected He left the Treasury just in time to escape the Sanborn scandals The country has no reason to believe that he would not have done precisely what Mr Richardson did

It would be difficult to tell just when the country lost confidence in Mr Richardson As for ourself the OREGONIAN has been the recipient of constantly recurring favors at his hands in the shape of statements of the public debt and similar mysteries of arithmetic And the OREGONIAN has never failed to give Mr Richardson credit for those alluring statements which always come just before important elections Mr Richardson was not an innovator He kept up that good old custom and on the slimmest basis of facts ever vouchsafed to any Secretary of the Treasury But we apprehend that the country first began to look with distrust on Mr Richardson when it found him at the beginning of the present Congress with pantaloons improperly adjusted The great commercial sections of the Union had just passed through a financial crisis of the gravest character The sufferers and those who while they were not sufferers yet feared a recurrence and an extension of the disaster looked to Congress for aid As Secretary of the Treasury Mr Richardson had the patient in hand He was expected to furnish a prescription in his report and Congress was expected to administer it. The first of December came and Mr Richardson's report was submitted to Congress It was a remarkable document remarkable for what it did not contain It then became apparent that however faithfully the Secretary might follow the admirable precedents set by his predecessors in the matter of statements of the public debt on the eve of important elections however smoothly he might move in the humdrum routine of his office when brought to face a grave public exigency and devise means of relief he had no opinion Men shouted crazily for more paper money and Mr Richardson had no opinion Other men clamored for some strong pledge some sure guaranty of speedy resumption and for them he had no opinion At all events he tried the role of the Silent Man of Destiny The garments didn't fit him and he made himself simply ridiculous

So after months of patient study of the financial question Mr Richardson was weighed and at the critical moment found wanting Then an enterprising journal got on the scent of the Sanborn contracts and very soon it was discovered that the Secretary of the Treasury was compromised in the nastiest of the many nasty jobs with which the present administration has been in one way or another connected Up to this time there had been a very general feeling of pity for the incompetent man The appearance of Banfield and Sanborn and Sawyer raised a suspicion in the public mind He was never accused of being another Alexander Hamilton but it cannot be denied that he smote the rock of the national resources and some have even gone so far as to hint that he and Mr Sanborn took turns in holding the pail when it gushed forth taxes We shall speak of this suspicion in another place Mr Richardson signed these contracts which gave to one John D Sanborn fifty per cent of an immense amount of taxes which he (Sanborn) had no hand in collecting and which should have been collected by the regular officials who are paid liberally paid for the performance of such duties And when he was asked by an investigating committee to explain how this came about, he answered with provoking nonchalance "I signed them in the regular routine of office work."

We have said that when he was called upon Mr Richardson had no plan for resuming specie payments He had a plan once From the depths of his inner consciousness or some other equally unreliable source he evolved a scheme looking to the resumption of $382,000,000 of greenbacks in sums of five dollars and less in silver coin We suppose the old gentleman regarded this Lilliputian scheme with infinite complacency Certainly he ought to have done so since everybody else laughed

And then when the District Investigating Committee found it necessary to subpœna certain Treasury clerks to give testimony on [illegible] points in their inquiry this mild-mannered old gentleman protested against anybody's taking his clerks out from under his vigilant eye and dignifiedly informed the Committee that if they would first come to him for information possessed by his Department he would be much obliged

So the country began to look with growing uneasiness on this old gentleman in the Treasury The papers began to mutter—some of them growled—and a people tired [illegible] peculiar [illegible] Then Mr Richardson [illegible] would not [illegible] as long as the [illegible] at [illegible] And the President patted him on the back [illegible] The tone of [illegible] At last the [illegible] Committee [illegible] a resolution censuring Richardson [illegible] subordinate—Sawyer and [illegible] Mr Richardson got homesick [illegible] know he may have remembered some [illegible] At all events his resignation went [illegible] accepted [illegible] old gentleman [illegible] his [illegible] was written in [illegible] discharged [illegible] that the Committee [illegible] Nor do we think Mr Richardson [illegible]

[illegible] twenty-four hours afterward [illegible] seat on the bench of the [illegible] How [illegible] Senators [illegible] of the Senate [illegible] the appointment and [illegible] there [illegible] If [illegible] Mr Richardson [illegible] of administration [illegible] hundred thousand dollars [illegible] of [illegible] which is [illegible] [illegible] Sanborn [illegible] Court [illegible] All of [illegible]

The people said to an incompetent [illegible] want Get out of this The President says Well done good and faithful servant! Enter into thy rest The people are beginning to say to the President Through of this Government It may not be serious Perhaps after all Richardson has only entered General Grant's Hospital for Incurables

UNACCOUNTABLE DISAPPEARANCE.—Information has just been received of the unaccountable absence from home and disappearance of a well known gentleman of Columbia City named William Clark. Clark by trade is a blacksmith and wagon maker. On the 2d of June—Tuesday—Clark left home with the intention of coming to Portland for the purpose of purchasing some wagon timber. He arrived in this city on the evening of the 2d and registered at the Clarendon Hotel. On the following morning the 3d Clark wrote a letter to his wife at Columbia City stating that he had not been successful in procuring wagon timber in Portland and that he should go to Vancouver to purchase the necessary material and return home on the Friday following. Whether or not he went to Vancouver is not known but since his arrival in Portland nothing whatever has been seen or heard of him. The wife became anxious about his return and finally apprehensions gave way to feeling of great alarm at his protracted absence. A gentleman from Columbia City came to Portland a few days ago to search for the missing man. He found where Clark had registered his name at the Clarendon Hotel in his own handwriting. From that place not the slightest trace of the missing man has been discovered. Clark is a large sized man about six feet high with heavy chest and broad shoulders. His weight is about 180 pounds. He is rather dark complexioned, with dark hair and light, thin whiskers with a prominent nose of the aquiline type. When he left home he wore a dark frock coat. Any information concerning the whereabouts of Clark will be most thankfully received by his almost distracted wife at Columbia City or by Mr T J McFeron of the same place. Willful desertion or foul play are the only reasons which can be assigned for his protracted absence.

P., D. & S. L. RAILROAD.—We clip the following special correspondence to the Eugene Journal: Colonel W W Chapman has just published a pamphlet of 15 pages relating to the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad. It states in a very clear and concise manner the various eastern connections of the proposed road, the western terminus and connections, the benefits to the interior, describes the portage railroads along the Columbia river, gives the charges for freight and passengers by boats on the Columbia, and also between Portland and Boise City, length of the proposed line of railroad between Portland and Salt Lake, which is estimated at 700 miles, cost of construction estimated at $12,000 per mile, the amount of business, mentions the efforts of the people to secure the building of the road, discusses the question of the gauge and then sums up what the company asks in the bills now pending in both Houses of Congress—a per cent. interest on $8,000 in bonds per mile for ten years—and they propose to give in return, being the transportation of the mails, troops and military supplies of the United States free forever which, it is claimed would save the Government over $61,000 annually for ten years and the whole amount for carrying mails and supplies thereafter. The pamphlet is exceedingly well written, and will place the matter before Congress in a better light than it has ever been before.

ON THE WAY.—The steamer Oriflamme sailed from San Francisco for this port yesterday morning with the following passengers: Hon Judge Deady, Chas Pendergast, Martin Badger, R J Sheridan, W Dickinson, D L King, J J Johnson Jr, Miss Johnson, Miss P Gentry, Mrs J Davidson, Mrs T Harding, Mrs C Sears, Mrs A Roth, Mrs G Shoemaker, Miss M R Wingard, Master E Wingard, C A Cornwall, Gen Davis U S A, D Coats, Mrs W H Dodd, Mrs R Addsly, Mrs M Morrow, Miss M Hill, Miss E Hill, Mrs Maybridge and child, S F Walker and family, R A Simmons and family, W A Ferguson and wife, A Booth, W N Freeman, Dr D M Baldwin and wife, A P McElroy and family, W H Huddle, W W Holmes, H B Martin, S Marx, R Smith, W T Gray, G B Gray, Master Robt Brenham, M God and Mrs R Smith, Miss C B Duniway, W H White, Mrs W Devanburn and two children, J N Teal, Mrs J Allen, C L Barber and family, Mrs H E Welton, J S Warner, A G Merson, J Dinkelsfield, J Beard, W T Shanahan, A J Spencer and two daughters, A J Spencer and wife, H Logan and Maguire's California Minstrel Troupe.

WARD NOMINATIONS.—The Central Committee appointed to select candidates in the several wards of East Portland, met on Friday evening and placed the following persons in nomination: First Ward, J K Laing; Second Ward, Thomas Parrott. Nomination for the Third Ward was made on Saturday evening, and we have not been advised of the result as yet. The following nominations were made for city officers: J A Newell, Recorder; W S Gordon, Treasurer; P B Severson, Assessor. To-day the municipal election will be held in East Portland as in this city.

FINE GOOSEBERRIES.—Mr H W Prettyman brought into the city last Saturday from his nursery, a gooseberry bush only one year old from the slip bearing no less than a quart of large and handsome berries. The boughs were literally covered with the fruit. The variety is one that originated at Mr Prettyman's as a seedling and has been christened The Oregon Champion. Bushes only two years from the slip have as much as a gallon of berries, and the variety is entirely free from the blight and mildew that affect most other varieties in Oregon.

FOR THE ASYLUM.—Deputy Sheriff Wm Saunders, of Coos county, arrived last evening with a crazy Indian woman named Caroline Evans, who was delivered over to the Asylum. Caroline has been cutting up rather lively about Empire City, and the County Judge concluded the best place for her was the Asylum. She came from the Siletz Reservation. She gave Mr. Saunders considerable trouble during the first part of the journey.

SERENADED.—Messrs. Gearin and Smith, Representatives elect, were agreeably surprised by the appearance of numerous friends accompanied by the East Portland Band at their respective residences on Saturday evening. The Band played, speeches were made and a "spread" of good things served to render the time spent at each place very pleasant indeed.

ST. HELEN'S HALL.—The examinations for the Easter term will take place on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week from 9 A. M. to 12 and from 1 to 3 P. M. The closing exercise will be on Thursday the [illegible] at 4 P. M. Compositions of graduates [illegible] award of testimonial diplomas conferred and address by the Bishop.

OPENED.—On Saturday evening [illegible] Briggs & Hart opened Music Hall under Oro Fino Theater. The large room is filled with tables where visitors can imbibe [illegible] at the rear is set apart for those desiring to dance.

POSTPONED.—Owing to the death of Mr Schoppe, the Independent German [illegible] picnic announced to take place yesterday was postponed indefinitely. Due notice will be given when the affair is to come off.

RESERVED SEATS.—Mr Greenwall agent for Maguire's Minstrels will be found at Craig's Music Store where reserved seats can be procured.

SHOT DEAD.

A FATAL TRAGEDY AT THE COZEY SALOON ON SATURDAY NIGHT—OFFICER C. F. SCHOPPE OF THE POLICE FORCE SHOT DEAD IN A VERY COWARDLY MANNER WHILE IN THE DISCHARGE OF HIS DUTY—THE MURDERER ARRESTED AND LODGED IN JAIL—GREAT INDIGNATION AND EXCITEMENT OVER THE [illegible] AFFAIR

Last Saturday evening a little past 9 o'clock the community was shocked by the intelligence that officer C. F. Schoppe, a well known member of the police force, was shot dead at the Cozey saloon situated on Oak street between Front and First while in the discharge of his duty as a guardian of the peace, and that the murder was perpetrated in a cool, deliberate and most cowardly manner without the shadow of provocation. These flying rumors at first were regarded as unfounded or at least greatly exaggerated, but the immense crowd which soon collected in the vicinity where the tragedy was reported to have occurred gave token that an event of startling import had transpired. As usual there was great excitement and conflicting reports as to the circumstances of the murder, for by this time it was ascertained beyond all doubt that Officer Schoppe had been shot and killed but a few minutes previous while in the act of arresting a would be murderer. In less time than it requires to tell, five or six hundred persons had collected on the street, sidewalks and about the entrance to the saloon. Meantime the throng was so great that the officers found it necessary to clear the sidewalk and close the doors of the saloon.

The circumstances of this fatal tragedy are substantially as follows, and which it will be seen are fully corroborated by the sworn statements made by the witnesses at the Coroner's inquest. Saturday evening, a few minutes after 9 o'clock, two men entered the Cozey saloon kept by a woman known as Annie Miles. R Gibbens is the name of one of the men. The name of the other is not known. Gibbens and his companion approached the bar, behind which the woman Miles was standing, and called for cigars. These were furnished, and after supplying themselves the men proceeded to light them. In a moment Gibbens left his companion standing at the bar and walked out at the back door of the saloon. Near to the door stood a hydrant, and Gibbens' object in going back—so it seemed to all appearances—was to take a drink of water. He remained out of doors nearly ten minutes. Annie Miles thinking it a little strange that he should remain at the hydrant so long opened the back door and looked out. Scarcely had she fairly opened the door and was peering through the darkness in the direction of the hydrant when she heard the ominous click of a pistol and a second later the loud report which followed. Fortunately the weapon was badly aimed and the ball which was evidently intended for the woman failed to take effect. The loud detonation of the pistol and the crashing of the bullet through the door dreadfully frightened the woman and turning she fled through the bar room out at the front entrance, and in the direction of Wetsell's saloon which stands at the corner.

Just at the moment Gibbens fired, officer Schoppe was standing across the street directly opposite the Cozey. He immediately ran in the direction of the firing. Before he reached the sidewalk he saw Annie Miles running out at the door. He asked the question "Where is he?" to which the woman answered "In back," pointing towards the saloon. Schoppe ran towards the door of the saloon to enter. A second report of the pistol was heard just after the officer reached the door. A number of persons who had heard the first report of the pistol were hurrying towards the saloon to see what the matter was. They saw the woman running away, and also Schoppe enter the saloon. Those who first entered the saloon found Schoppe and Gibbens both prostrate on the floor, the officer lying on and across the latter person's body. On removing Schoppe he was found to be mortally wounded, speechless and in a dying condition. Gibbens was partially unconscious from the effects of a heavy blow across the forehead which had doubtless been dealt him by Schoppe, after that person had received the death shot. Not a soul was present in the saloon at the moment of the tragedy, except the two actors, Gibbens's companion having left a few minutes previous to the first shot. Every appearance indicates that the officer received the fatal missile just as he was in the act of entering the door. Gibbens was doubtless standing near the center of the room with the weapon cocked and as Schoppe with his right hand against the hanging door was coming in sidewise he fired. From an examination made after death by Drs Alfred Kinney and Schumacher, it was discovered that the ball took effect on the right side of the body below the arm pit and to the rear of the nipple and ranging a little downward passed out on the left side. In its course the ball passed almost directly through the heart and shattering one of the ribs on the left side as it passed from the body. The weapon which so speedily accomplished the murderous work was a large sized navy revolver. Some idea of the force of the ball can be formed from the fact that it passed through a heavy overcoat, vest, over and under shirt and through the body. When the examination was made the ball was found on the left side between the skin and the under shirt.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

Shortly after the homicide Coroner Driver was notified. He repaired to the scene without delay and summoning a jury proceeded to hold an inquest. The following are the sworn statements made by the several witnesses, who were summoned:

OFFICER CORCORAN

Was the first witness sworn. He testified as follows: It was between 9 and 9:30 o'clock on Saturday evening that I heard a pistol shot fired in the direction of the Cozey saloon on Oak street, between Front and First streets. When I heard the shot I ran into the saloon and found Schoppe lying on top of a man. The man's hand was by the side of a pistol which was lying on the floor. I took hold of the pistol and handed it to Mr Tufts. I then placed the man whose name I have since learned is R Gibens under arrest, and took him to jail, assisted by officer Hudson. When I arrested him Schoppe was not dead but speechless.

J. D. TUFTS

Was the next witness sworn. He testified as follows: I was walking up the street about 9 o'clock. I heard the report of a pistol. I saw a woman run out of the Cozey saloon on Oak street. She went to Wetsell's saloon and told him that she had been shot at. I then saw officer Schoppe run from across the street and go into the saloon. Shortly after the officer entered the saloon I heard another shot. I then went into the saloon and found deceased lying on top of a man. Mr Corcoran was standing over them and he reached down and handed me a pistol. I laid the pistol on a table and Mr Corcoran took charge of it.

ANNIE MILES

Was sworn next, who testified: The man who killed Mr Schoppe came into the saloon on Oak street, about 9 o'clock and asked for a cigar. There was another man with him whose name I do not know. The man who fired the shot went out back of the house to the hydrant and remained there [illegible] I should think about ten or fifteen minutes. I then opened the door to go out [illegible] he fired [illegible] at me. I then ran back through the saloon into the street and [illegible] to the corner of First street. I saw Mr Schoppe run into the saloon. Just about [illegible] I heard another shot. I think I would know the man who fired the shot. The man [illegible] at the time [illegible] was [illegible] the deceased [illegible] There was no one in the house but [illegible] the time the first shot was [illegible] officers arrested the man who [illegible]

W [illegible]

Was sworn and testified: I [illegible] this from Front when I heard a shot [illegible] I saw a girl run out on the street and [illegible] that time I heard another shot fired. The next thing I saw was officer Corcoran run into the saloon. I then rushed into the saloon. Shortly afterward when I got in I saw Corcoran down on his knees and [illegible] was lying [illegible] of Mr [illegible] to take Schoppe off the man for [illegible] Schoppe was [illegible] and tried to [illegible] the man. The deceased tried to speak but could not. They laid him on his bed and he expired in three or four minutes. I am not acquainted with the man who killed him.

MR [illegible]

Was the next witness sworn who testified as follows: Shortly after 9 o'clock I was at my place of business on the corner of First and Oak streets. I heard a pistol shot and I looked in the direction of the noise and saw a woman run out of the Cozey Saloon. Immediately I saw Mr Schoppe run into the saloon. He had scarcely got inside the saloon when I heard another shot. I then met a lady on the sidewalk and asked her what was the matter over there and she told me that a man had shot at her. I then went to the saloon and saw officer Corcoran and Mr Gallagher. I also saw Mr Schoppe lying on the top of a man. Mr Corcoran said to us, "Take Schoppe away for he is badly hurt." We then pulled Mr Schoppe away from the man in a dying condition. He tried to speak but could not.

THE VERDICT.

After having all the evidence in the case and the statements by the physicians who made the examination the jury returned the following verdict:

We the jury empanneled to inquire into the cause of death of the deceased do find that his name is Charles F. Schoppe, that he is a native of Germany and about [illegible] years of age, and that he came to his death while in the discharge of his duty as a police officer from a gunshot wound in the hands of one R. Gibbens.
John Donovan (Foreman), J W Holman, C Trickle, W F Walker, H Cooke, W J Tennant.

MR. SCHOPPE

Has been connected with the police force for more than two years. He was a faithful, vigilant and competent officer, ever ready and willing to discharge his duty, but a genial, humane gentleman withal. Deceased was one of the best officers connected with the present force and much respected for his frank and manly deportment. We do not believe he had an enemy in Portland. Very naturally his brother officers and the community feel greatly outraged and indignant at the unwarranted, unprovoked, deliberate and cowardly manner in which he was murdered. To such a pitch of indignation and excitement had the public mind reached soon after the circumstances of Schoppe's cowardly assassination became known that it would not be difficult to predict what the result would have been had the murderer fell into the hands of the crowd. Had not the officers prudently taken Gibbens to jail as soon as they possibly could we have little doubt but what the excited and thoroughly aroused populace would have suspended him to the first convenient lamp post without shrift or prayer. Deceased was a married man and leaves behind him a wife who is completely prostrated by the suddenness of the dreadful blow, and two children. Yesterday the remains of the late C. F. Schoppe were conveyed to their last resting place beneath the cold clods followed by his weeping widow and children and a large concourse of sorrowing friends. The funeral was one of the largest and most imposing which we have seen in Portland and was witnessed by hundreds of our citizens who thronged the streets and sidewalks along the line of march. The cortege was preceded by the City Band in full dress uniform playing in soft subdued strains the solemn measures of the funeral march. Next came the order of Druids—both Morvin and Concordia Groves—of which deceased was a member in life. After these came the members of the Turn Verein Society in full force, members of the German Aid Society, to which organization deceased also belonged, came next. Following these came the black hearse with its mournful nodding plumes and sombre trappings containing the remains of the dead. The hearse was very appropriately decorated with wreaths of ivy and flowers. Behind the hearse came a long line of carriages. The remains were conveyed to Lone Fir Cemetery where they were laid to rest with the beautiful and impressive rites and ceremonies peculiar to the Order of Druids.

ROBERT GIBBENS.

The murderer is a small-sized man, rather heavy set, light complexioned with light hair. He is a native of Maryland and came to this State several years ago.

On the person of Gibbens after being taken to jail, was found a $20 gold piece, $3 in silver, a few gold specimens, a dozen or more lead pencils with rubber erasers on the ends and a small phial of chloroform. He was a married man but lost his wife some years ago. Two of his children now reside with an aunt in Baltimore. By trade Gibbens is a carpenter, and is said to be a very clever workman. He worked for some time in Portland at his trade, also chopped wood at Oswego and at a farm southeast of the city. A gentleman, for whom Gibbens has worked for a number of months, informed us yesterday that the murderer is a quiet, peaceably disposed man, steady, industrious and honest when sober, but when addicted to his cups a quarrelsome and dangerous individual. Some time last March Gibbens left this city and went up to the Cascades to work and returned to Portland about a week since. When first brought to the jail after he had committed the murder he was very abusive to the officers, and refused for a time to give his name. He stated to the officers early yesterday morning that he had no recollection whatever of having committed any murder and when told that he had shot and killed an officer he said it all appeared like a dream to him. He said he had been drinking in the early part of the evening and did not remember anything which happened from the time he entered the Cozey until he found himself in the jail. This is certainly one of the most unjustifiable homicides which has yet transpired in Portland, and so far as we can judge at present there is not one single circumstance which tend to the exculpation of the criminal or to palliate in the least the enormity of his crime. Murder in the first degree seems to be the inevitable verdict which an intelligent jury can render.

Gibbens will have an examination in all probability to-day in the Police Court. As the Grand Jury is now in session the investigation of the case will be referred to them at an early day.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE.

At a meeting held yesterday afternoon by the members of the Police Force the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS Chas F Schoppe met with sudden death on the night of the 13th inst while in the performance of his duty as policeman, and his connection with this force for the period of three years past has endeared him to us, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Charles F Schoppe we have lost a loved companion, one faithful in his trust as an officer, one kind to the afflicted, merciful to the unfortunate and yet always brave to confront danger whenever met in the performance of his duty.

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to his family in their affliction and sincerely trust that the [illegible] Father of all will [illegible] their [illegible] husband and father.

Resolved, That the [illegible] members of the Police Force wear the usual badge of mourning [illegible] for the period of thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the family of the deceased and also to each of the daily papers for publication.

PICNICS.

One of the most enjoyable picnics of the season was the one given on Saturday by the pupils and teachers of the First Presbyterian Sunday School. Nor was there any deficiency in the attendance. Besides the pupils and teachers connected with that prosperous school several hundred parents and friends and others embraced the opportunity presented to get away from the heat and dust of the city for even a short day and took the car. Aurora was the objective point of the picnickers and the pleasant grounds adjacent to that village were selected as the place where the festivities were to be held. At the hour designated the pupils and teachers formed at the Presbyterian church and marched to the eastside depot where the cars were in readiness. In a short time Aurora was reached and the excursionists debarked and were soon wending their way to the grounds. Lunching, swinging, rambling in the shady woods and sports of various kinds were the order of the day in which all participated with keen gusto. In all it was a pleasant day and one which will long be remembered. As the evening train came thundering down to the depot all the excursionists were found ready to return a little fatigued but well satisfied with the day's pleasures. Owing to a delay of two hours occasioned by a tree falling across the track near Harrisburg, the train did not reach Portland until 7 o'clock.

The members and friends of the Congregational and Baptist Sunday Schools held a picnic Saturday at Oswego. The steamboat E. N. Cooke left the O. S. N. Co's wharf at a few minutes before 10 o'clock with the excursionists on board and arrived at Oswego after a trip of three quarters of an hour. As soon as the boat landed the party went to the grounds on the river bank just below the landing, whence they soon scattered around in every direction and commenced exploring the grounds and neighboring hills and enjoying themselves generally. Being well supplied with full lunch baskets and other means of ministering to the needs of the inner man lunch was soon spread and disposed of and then the day's pleasure seeking began in earnest. Some strolled around on the river bank or sought some shady nooks where they might enjoy themselves in a quiet way; others spent their time in visiting the Iron Works or the lake back of the town, while others still rowed on the river. So the time was spent until half past four o'clock when all re-embarked on the boat and started homeward after first taking a short ride up the river above Oswego. The weather was perfect and the scenery on the river charming. At half past five o'clock the boat reached the wharf whence she started in the morning and everybody landed tired of course but otherwise in good order. Altogether the picnic was a success and those who went enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

THE STAGE.

Wilson's Circus was at Sacramento on the 10th inst.

Donald McKay and his Indian troupe were at Sacramento on the 9th inst. They are Eastward bound.

James Larkin and Carrie Armstrong are great favorites at the Metropolitan Theater, New York city. These artists were here two years ago.

We clip this from the Figaro of the 6th inst: The Wallace Minstrel troupe showed at Trinity Center, California, May 29th. George Collin the agent writes us that the troupe will continue on to Oregon.

This is what Figaro says of a recent presentation to Little Mac: "Little Mac, the minstrel who made such a noble drum major on the occasion of the parade and picnic of the Plumbers and Gasfitters Association has been presented by them, in recognition of his services, with a magnificent gold match box, nearly big enough for him to sleep in."

Elsewhere is published the introductory notice of Maguire's Minstrels. The members mentioned have been connected for years with various minstrel troupes and latterly have been playing an engagement at Maguire's Opera House, San Francisco. We have seen Little Mac and Bill Sweatman and their performances we have regarded as first class. Little Mac is the funniest little fellow in the country and Sweatman on the end is not to be excelled. Bobby Newcomb, the author of "The Big Sun Flower," is the best in the business. Knight is said to do some excellent things—the Dutch business being his specialty. The other members are also well known, and those who have seen them speak highly of them. They will open at the Oro Fino Theater on Wednesday evening.

CARD FROM MR. JOHN R FOSTER.

PORTLAND June 16, 1874.

I respectfully decline the nomination for Councilman from the First Ward.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

See Deuteronomy Chap xii Verse 23. The blood being the source from which our systems are built up and from which we derive our mental as well as physical capabilities, how important that it should be kept pure. If it contains vile festering poisons all organic functions are weakened thereby. Settling upon important organs as the lungs, liver or kidneys the effect is most disastrous. Hence it behooves every one to keep their blood in a perfectly healthy condition, and more especially does this apply at this particular season of the year than at any other. No matter what the exciting cause may be, the real cause of a large proportion of all diseases is bad blood. Now Dr Pierce does not wish to place his Golden Medical Discovery in the catalogue of quack patent nostrums by recommending it to cure every disease, nor does he so recommend it; on the contrary there are hundreds of diseases that he acknowledges it will not cure, but what he does claim is this, that there is but one form of blood disease that it will not cure, and that disease is cancer. He does not recommend his Discovery for that disease, yet he knows it to be the most searching blood cleanser yet discovered, and that it will free the blood and system of all other known blood poisons, be they animal, vegetable or mineral. The Golden Discovery is warranted by him to cure the worst forms of Skin Diseases, as all forms of Blotches, Pimples and Eruptions, also all Glandular swellings and the worst form of Scrofulous and Ulcerated Sores of Neck, Legs or other parts, and all Scrofulous Diseases of the Bones, as White Swellings, Fever Sores, Hip Joint and Spinal Diseases, all of which belong to Scrofulous diseases.

CONFIRMED—HIP JOINT DISEASE CURED.

W GROVE STATION Ia July 14 1872.

Dr PIERCE, Buffalo N Y

Dear Sir—My wife became lame nine years ago. Swellings would appear and disappear on her hip and she was gradually becoming reduced and her whole system rotten with disease. In 1871 a swelling broke on her hip discharging large quantities and since that time there are several openings. Have had five doctors at an expense of $125 who say nothing will do any good but a surgical operation.

July 16th 1873 he writes thus: My wife has certainly received a great benefit from the use of your Discovery for she was not able to get off the bed and was not expected to live a week when she commenced using it a year ago. She has been doing most of her work for over six months. Has used twenty bottles and still using it. Her recovery is considered as almost a miracle, and we attribute it all to the use of your valuable medicine. I can cheerfully recommend it as a blood purifier and strength restorer.

J M ROBINSON

The triangular fight for Governor and other State officers is over and the returns are coming in. Some think the result will be in favor of the Democratic ticket and vice versa, but it is certain that FISHEL & ROBERTS are leading in the race for supremacy in their particular line of business. This popular Clothing House is now filled in every department with the latest fashions and they are offering great bargains, though that is generally understood by all who know the firm. Leave your measure, and we assure you that satisfaction will be given in every instance.

Amid the exciting excitement attending the election do not forget that you need a new outfit for the summer. There never was a better opportunity offered those in want of clothing to invest than at the present time. Lock & Waldman, the pioneer clothiers, are awake to the necessities of the hour and now offer to buyers an entire suit of clothing at less cost than can be found elsewhere. Their stock is A No 1 and as for quantity none can boast of having more in store.

The lungs are strained and racked by a persistent cough, the general strength wasted and an incurable complaint often established thereby. Dr Jayne's Expectorant is an effective remedy for Coughs and Colds and exerts a beneficial effect on the Pulmonary and Bronchial Organs.

J. B. A. Reviere, importer and dealer in Human Hair and practical Wig Maker and Hair Worker, has just returned from France with the finest [illegible] of Human Hair ever brought to this market and is now ready to dispose of it at very low prices [illegible] the new store corner of Third and Alder street, directly opposite the [illegible] office. A WOMAN'S ANSWER TO A MAN'S QUESTION

Do you know you have asked for the costliest thing
Ever made by the hand above
A woman's heart and a woman's life—
And a woman's wonderful love?

Do you know you have asked for this priceless thing
As a child might ask for a toy
Demanded what others have died to win
With the reckless dash of a boy

You have written my lesson of duty out
Man like you have questioned me
Now stand at the bar of woman's soul
Until I shall question thee

You require your mutton shall always be hot
Your stockings and shirts be whole
I require your heart shall be true as God's stars
And pure as heaven your soul

You require a cook for your mutton and beef
I require a far greater thing
A seamstress you're wanting for stockings and for shirts
I look for a man and a king—

A king for the beautiful realm called home
And a man that the Maker God
Shall look upon as he did on the first
And say it is very good

I am fair and young but the rose will fade
From my soft young cheek one day
Will you love me then mid the falling leaves
As you did mong the blossoms of May?

Is your heart an ocean so strong and deep
I may launch my all on its tide
A lovely woman finds heaven or hell
On the day she is made a bride

I require all things that are good and true
All things that a man should be
If you give this all I would stake my life
To be all you demand of me

If you cannot be this—a laundress and cook
You can have and little to pay
But a woman's heart and a woman's life
Are not to be won that way

FOR THE BLACK HILLS

Chris Gilson leader of one of the expeditions mentioned in the following from the Bismarck Dakota, Tribune, is well known to many people in Oregon having lived at the Dalles for some time, a few years ago The Tribune says

As the Christian looks forward with hope and faith to that land of pure delight so the miner looks forward to the Black Hills, a region of fabulous wealth, where the rills repose on beds of gold and the rocks are studded with the precious metal Nuggets of pure gold as large as walnuts have been shown and evidence produced as indisputable as that on which the Christian founds his hope that they come from this promised land

To-day there is forming on the banks of the Missouri an expedition consisting of from seventy-five to one hundred of as brave boys as ever drew bead on a red skin, to be led by the redoubtable Chris Gilson, and sworn to visit the Black Hills and report They come in squads from Yankton, from Moorhead from Jamestown—from the east the far west and from the south and early in June they will meet where provision has been made for crossing the river and with pack-mules loaded with flour, bacon ammunition etc take up their line of march for the Eldorado of the north

Who is the brave leader of this band of hardy pioneers? we are asked, and reply Chris Gilson who will live in history and song as one of the bravest men of his time Those spirits who cannot help admiring the valor of Daniel Boone, or the pluck and persistence of Kit Carson will delight to revere the name of Chris Gilson For twenty eight years Chris has operated on the western plains now a guide or interpreter then occupying positions of higher trust Gilson has had a hand in some rough encounters in his time In February 1873 in self defense he was engaged in a conflict with some desperadoes at Sargent City, Kansas in which he killed Sam Wright, Thomas McLeland and Jack Stutzman, shooting also an arm off of another, when the remaining three abandoned the contest The citizens of Sargent for this act voted Chris their thanks and presented him with a $150 shot gun and the railway managers gave him a pass for a year over their line of road In November before, Chris had killed a companion of these roughs named Clayburn as in this case in self defense

About the 15th of June, ten companies of the 7th cavalry under the command of Gen Custer, two sections of artillery under the command of Lieut Chance accompanied by Lieut Col Fred Grant and Gen Forsythe of Gen Sheridan's staff, Col Ludlow, and several practical miners, will leave Fort Abraham Lincoln for the same region as that to be visited by Gilson's party Their mission is a peaceful one They go to explore the country a corps of observation, and will not interfere with the Indians unless attacked by them The expedition will not be attended by expense to the Government, as the men and horses will require fewer supplies on the march than in camp.

By private letter we learn that Gilson's party left Bismarck on the 29th of May

P D AND S L RAILWAY

We are permitted to make the following extract from a private letter to a gentleman of this city, from Eastern Oregon, dated June 4th

Dear Sir Yours of the 30th ult is received and contents noted and would say that the hopes of the people of Eastern Oregon are concentrated on the passage of the present bill before Congress for aid for the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad And if this bill should fail of passage at this session of Congress I am sure that the hopes of the people of this county will die with its failure, in the direction of ever making any connection with Portland It is considered by this people that when Portland cannot raise more than $1 000 (and that as a loan) in support of this their interest in this direction is not very much Sir I have as an individual paid more than three times that amount on this enterprise, and not as a loan either, and I consider that if this present bill fails, it is the fault of Portland entirely, and it is of no use to try to disguise the fact that Portland has no real heart in this enterprise, and this being the case Eastern Oregon feels itself too weak to attempt an enterprise in which Portland is as much interested as we are Consequently I consider your proposition as useless as far as this country is concerned, but will say this that if Portland will show her hand as we have done in this enterprise then it will be time to talk of hopes of success, but at present, this vast country east of the Cascades have no money and no market We have an abundance of property but no market and can do nothing of ourselves except in labor or material. We have here a construction company already organized who propose to build this road from La Grande to the Columbia—about 100 miles, and if this present bill fails to pass we expect to build to the Columbia river probably connect at Walla Walla or Wallula with the Seattle railroad and make no further attempt to reach Portland either by river or railroad

Capt. Deighton informs the New Westminster Guardian that the Fraser had fallen six feet at Yale on the last trip and was still falling. He states that the Onward makes her way to Yale with the greatest ease under the pressure allowed by the Dominion Government

Mr A R Howse C E late of the Lands & Works Department will leave Victoria on Friday to begin the work of surveying the Indian reserves on the mainland The land will be allotted at the rate of 20 acres [illegible] of the persons. The surveys will be commenced at Mud Bay

The annual Wesleyan camp meeting commenced [illegible] on the [illegible] The attendance was large and the results satisfactory [illegible] having been added to the Church The services were solemn and impressive concluding with the administration of the sacraments

[illegible] —The soldiers of the [illegible] were brave men misled but sincere They too had a principle which they [illegible] lives They were Americans [illegible]

have paid and [illegible] the citizenship they disowned Their bravery is a part of our history Men of the next generation North and South will cherish no ill-will against the sons of those who fought against their fathers There will be a universal feeling that the war was rightfully waged and that its results were worth fighting for —Boston Advertiser

We notice no important change in the [illegible] of our local finances [illegible] seems to be ample to satisfy the current demand which [illegible] not considered large or brisk The O & W Trust Company [illegible] fully [illegible] and we learn has already effected some loans [illegible] on a liberal basis as to rates and will doubtless be extensively patronized All the moneyed institutions in this city we are informed are tolerably full handed and sufficient capital to move the grain crop will probably be accessible

The Wool Market

All over our State the wool market has been [illegible] during for a week past and extreme high prices have been paid for several large lots in that [illegible] orders of Grange agents. One lot of 20 000 pounds bought for account of Salem Woolen Mills, brought 31 cents per pound and another lot of 12 000 pounds sold at 35 cents, to the benefit of the members of Jefferson Grange These prices [illegible] from the standard of Eastern and San Francisco quotations [illegible] and we understand that now the buyers in this city are only offering 28 cents Whether the buyers can hold the market down to that figure depends of course on the Eastern quotations It is true that our mills need all the fine wool raised and can pay a small advance over Eastern prices to keep it here but the bulk of the coarse wool must go abroad and there will be less competition for its purchase At the present time wool raising promises fully as well as any Oregon product as it requires less labor and capital than wheat culture and offers a more reliable return for the outlay Lands can be utilized for that purpose that could not readily be cultivated for wheat and sheep do not impoverish the soil

The San Francisco Bulletin publishes a table of the wool receipts at that city for the months of March April and May of the present year which shows a total of [illegible] bales as against 3[illegible] bales for the same period of 1873—an increase of over 10 000 bales This shows a disposition on the part of producers to take fair opening prices and handle the cash at once rather than wait and take their chances later in the season The bulk of the clip of clean shipping grades in the California market realized from [illegible] cents to 22 cents a few fancy lots selling as high as [illegible] cents and [illegible] cents per pound
